The week begins on a tragic note as Asher is severely injured. What is his prognosis?

Meanwhile, Griffin looks to the darker side of himself as he contemplates killing Ricky. But is Griffin truly able to stoop to such extremes? Speaking of Ricky, he bites the bullet and proposes to Kendall. Isn't it a bit too soon, given her husband only died a few months ago? How will Kendall respond? We know she is in cahoots with Ryan and Griffin to get to the bottom of Ricky's machinations, so what will she do? She continues to work to get Ricky to open up to her. Does he come clean at last?

At the same time, as Caleb thanks JR for being there for him, Jackson confesses to kissing Krystal. To whom does he open up? More importantly, are his feelings for Krystal growing?

As Jack reveals his secret, Erica's captor takes things to a new level. In fact, Erica's family and friends are among Erica's captor, but do they know it? Finally, Greenlee brings Emma to the hospital to see her sister. Is it a happy family moment, or not? Speaking of which, how is Madison doing? Find out when you tune in to All My Children this week.
