

She's back!

Days of our Lives is thrilled to announce the return of Eileen Davidson! Davidson heads back to Salem to reprise the role of everyone's favorite villainess, Kristen DiMera.

According to our sources at Days, this is a "can't miss" story arc that is sure to take us all by storm. Just who she will interact with and what machinations she will concoct this time remains to be seen, but it's sure to heat things up in Salem.

Back at the studio taping as of this past Friday, Davidson is slated to begin airing spring of 2015.

Days fans will remember that Kristen left the canvas this November after kidnapping her former fiancé's (Brady) pregnant love interest. After a cryptic conversation with Brady that has had everyone mystified, the many questions that have had fans reeling since her departure will be answered when she returns next year.

Don't miss Kristen's explosive return to Salem!

Oh yeah. In case you've been living on Mars for the last 50 or so years, Days of our Lives airs weekdays on NBC. Stay tuned...

Meantime, here are some candid photos of Davidson taping her scenes as Kristen DiMera...
