The pre nominations for the 38th Annual Daytime Emmy awards were announced Friday, February 25, 2011. Many of the usual suspects are on the list. Some shows have three pre noms in some categories, while most of the categories offer two actors per show per category. Except in the Outstanding Younger Actor category where All My Children and As the World Turns only nominated one star each.

The next step in the voting process is for the committee members to select the actors who appear on the final Daytime Emmy Ballot.

Did your faves make it to the pre noms? If not, who is missing?
