

Luke continues his downward spiral

Luke is really gone. Something very big must have happened during Luke's childhood. But what? What would turn Luke into a cold, calculated killer? And as much as Luke has hated Scott, he really went to the extreme at the court house.

Raise your hand if you think Laura could bring Luke back to 'normal?' As much as they've shoved Luke and Tracy down our throats, we all know Laura will always be the love of Luke's life. She could bring him back. Why hasn't anyone called her – Nikolas or Lulu?

And with all that Nik and Spencer are going through, they could use Laura's help. She would want to be there for her son and her grandson. And for Luke. Yet we've heard nothing of her. Not even a mention of her name in passing. Or a phone call. Why?

Isn't that whole judge being Monica's boyfriend a conflict of interest? That wouldn't stand up in a real court of law. The judge is supposed to be impartial and look out for the interest of the child.

I'm not a fan of Sonny. And I do believe his children suffer because of his choices. But I don't think Michael is qualified to raise a child. I don't even think Michael wants custody. What Michael wants is revenge.

I do believe that what goes around does come around. That Sonny got what he deserved for taking Michael away from AJ all those years ago. Karma really is a bitch. And just when you least expect it, expect it. Just ask Sonny.

Sonny wants Morgan to take the baby to the infamous island. Really? Sonny only cares about getting his way. He's not thinking of Morgan and making an accessory. And why is Morgan such a yes-man all of a sudden? Morgan will do anything (and I mean anything) to please Sonny.

Does anyone think Maxie is innocent as far as that kiss? I don't. She totally leaned in toward Spinelli. Maxie knew what Spinelli was about to do and she was totally there. I think Maxie is guilty. Yes, Spinelli initiated contact. But Maxie did nothing to resist. It makes me wonder if Maxie does have feelings for Spinelli.

In actor news, the role of Patricia Spencer will be played by Dee Wallace. You'll recognize Wallace from the film, "E.T." Hayley Erin has taken over the role of Kiki. The actress replaced veteran soap star Kristen Alderson.
