

Elizabeth admits the truth to Ric

We all knew Elizabeth still had feelings for Jake. And now Ric knows too. The question is – what will Ric do now? Given his past behavior, it's not hard to imagine that Ric will go to extremes to win Elizabeth back. I don't believe Ric has changed his stripes, which means he will do anything to get what he wants.

Spoiler alert – word online is that Rebecca Budig has been cast to play a woman Ric hires to pose as Jake's wife. We all know Jake does, indeed have a wife – Sam. So it should be interesting how this all plays out. Either way, I don't believe that Elizabeth's future is with Ric.

Why is Spinelli the only person who sees Jason in Jake? I still don't get it. Isn't Jake's voice the same as Jason? What about his body? What is wrong with everyone? Carly should put the pieces together. I get that Sam isn't terribly bright, but I would expect her to recognize the similarities.

Will Shawn learn the truth about Jordan? And if he does, will Duke have Jordan killed? This has the potential to end very badly. Shawn obviously has deep feelings for Jordan. And we've been lead to believe that Shawn is TJ's biological father. That could be Jordan's saving grace. What better way to save her own life that by pulling the son card? I think Shawn will be assigned to eliminate Jordan at some point. And that's when Jordan will tell Shawn the truth about their son.

Picture it – Shawn holds a gun to Jordan, ready to kill her. And she says, "TJ is your son." You think Shawn will drop his weapon? I do.

General Hospital Check Up - Week of March 9, 2015

Written by Laurie Bedigian

Sunday, 15 March 2015 14:56

---

In actor news, Annie Wersching (ex Amelia Joffe) can be seen on the CW series "The Vampire Diaries." Baby Rocco Falconeri has been aged and recast with twin brothers Ethan and Charles Losie.