

Dancing with the Stars Pro to General Hospital

Written by Linda Marshall-Smith
Wednesday, 07 November 2012 16:57

In a true reversal of fortune, primetime heads to daytime as Dancing with the Stars pro dancer, Val Chmerkovskiy, heads to Port Charles in a guest starring role on General Hospital.

Interestingly, Val's dancing partner is none other than General Hospital's Kelly Monaco (Sam). Could she have had anything to do with his daytime debut? Could be. Plus, it doesn't hurt that both Dancing with the Stars and General Hospital air on the ABC network.

According to USA Today, it was Val himself who broke the story.

"#DaytimeEmmy here I come lol #thrilled#honored," he tweeted today.

ABC confirmed that he indeed was taping his scenes today. He will be airing in a story point about boxing and will be playing to Maurice Benard (Sonny), Nancy Lee Grahn (Alexis) and Sean Blakemore (Shawn).

As for Monaco, her role changed today from student to teacher. She was coaching her dance instructor in acting and was on set with him even though she did not appear in the scenes.

Watch for his appearance on General Hospital slated to air this December 10th.