

One Life to Live Sneak Peeks Week 1-9-12

Written by Linda Marshall-Smith
Thursday, 05 January 2012 04:55

We were not treated to any sneak peeks for the last week of One Life to Live, so our information is very sketchy. As we all know, the world of Llanview and the characters we love will say goodbye on Friday, January 13, 2012, after 43 years. We hear that the show will revisit some of its iconic storylines and sign off in style. All we know for sure is that Viki will again visit heaven, but this time, she's got Clint in tow. (You'll remember she was shot and he had a heart attack at the culmination of last Friday's episode.)

"This is the third time Viki's visited Heaven," Erika Slezak told TVGuide's Jonathan Logan. "Thank God they're always round trips!" She went on to share that she's got a round trip ticket this time, too, so nope, Viki doesn't die. She also shared that along with her daughter, Megan (Jessica Tuck), and Clint (Jerry verDorn), she'll be surrounded by a lot of other company in Heaven. With only five broadcast episodes of One Life to Live left, don't miss a moment this week.