

One Life to Live Sneak Peeks Week of 2-14-11

Written by Linda Marshall-Smith
Monday, 14 February 2011 20:13

Wedding bells ring out in Llanview this week! As it's a surprise wedding, who do you suppose ties the knot?

Meanwhile, as one special couple shares some newly wedded bliss, Dani and Nate rock Ford's world with shocking news! Could it have something to do with a certain paternity situation? We are not one hundred percent sure, but we do have a sneaking suspicion. If our powers of deductive reasoning are correct, it's no wonder then that we can expect to see Tess re-emerge this week. Bet you know why she makes a comeback. Bet you even know why she introduces herself to Ford. Poor Jessica. What her personalities can unleash when she least expects it.

At the same time, Dani and Nate continue to bond. Will their burgeoning relationship take them to the next level? Will they have sex? We can't spill all the beans but we can say this – before mid week Todd catches Dani and Nate in bed. But have they done the deed?

Valentine's week notwithstanding, both Blair and Cristian are feeling the loneliness of being in a loveless state. They take solice in one another as they discuss their current situations. Will shoulders to lean on lead to something more romantic between the two? Shortly thereafter, as John commiserates with Kelly, Brody and Natalie have it out about her lies. Is Natalie at risk of losing John forever? Has Brody lost Jess to Tess and Ford?

Let us not forget the concerns that Viki, Rex and Gigi share about Charlie and their worry that he has fallen off the wagon. Will he surprise them and stay sober, or has he delved where a recovering alcoholic should never tread? Tune in to One Life to Live this week and find out.