Be sure to tune in to The View Thursday, August 5th when General Hospital's Vanessa Marcil Giovinazzo (Brenda) appears as a guest.

As previously reported at Soadpom.com, Atlantic recording artist Jason Castro guest stars on The Bold and the Beautiful, Thursday, July 29 and Friday, July 30, on the CBS Television Network. Castro, third runner-up on the seventh season of "American Idol," will perform "Love Uncompromised" off his recently released self-titled debut album. He will appear in scenes with

Jim Matula

"Hope",

Zack Conroy

"Oliver" and

Sarah Joy Brown

"Aggie" as "Oliver" attempts to romance "Hope" back into his life after a terrible misunderstanding tore the two young lovers apart. Castro's current single, "That's What I'm Here For," was heard in a recent episode of The Bold and the Beautiful.

Tune in this week for the climax of the Franco storyline on General Hospital shot on remote at the MOCA (Museum of Contemporary Art) at the Pacific Design Center in Los Angeles. With Franco's return to Port Charles, the multi-award winning daytime drama kicks off its summer story as the wickedly brilliant Franco takes the town's citizens on a wild ride of mystery, music, murder and mayhem. As the artist continues his obsessive vendetta against Jason (Steve Burton), enemies will be forced to work together, Jason and Dante (Dominic Zamprogna) will pursue a tangled web of clues Franco has laid out, the hospital will be in peril, and in a chilling climax, the viewing audience will be treated to performance art the likes of which they've never seen before. All we can say is hold on to your remotes, General Hospital fans. You are in for a wild ride...

"Good Morning America" weekend co-anchor Bianna Golodryga recently sat down with award-winning actor James

Franco in Los Angeles, where he was filming a scene for "General Hospital

" at the Pacific Design Center

. Reprising his role as artist "Franco," the actor discussed what draws him to the structure of soap operas, telling Golodryga "...there are performances with different levels of intension, different levels of being genuine, that can get audiences thinking in a different way than just about a fictional story. And I thought...if I went on a soap opera, maybe that would add something, maybe that would shake something up." He also discussed his return to school and his reputation as a "renaissance man," who's not only an actor but a director, producer, and artist as well.

Back The Bay's finale episode this season. Yup, that's right you and your soap fan friends can back the production of The Bay's season finale. The Bay is a new web series
