

Passions' Natalie Zea (ex Gwen) Sells Out

Written by Linda Marshall-Smith
Friday, 01 November 2002 16:00

---

Additional performances added

Fans of Passions, Buffy the Vampire Slayer, and other supporters of the Lone Star Ensemble...

Due to demand, the Blank Theatre Company's exclusive staged reading of ALBERT HALL -- featuring Natalie Zea (Gwen from "Passions") as well as Lone Star actors Brian Stanton and Sarah Louise Wilson -- has been extended for an additional performance (Tuesday, November 26).

ALBERT HALL -- a new play written by Amber Benson (Tara from "Buffy the Vampire Slayer") and directed by James Kerwin -- will now play both Monday and Tuesday nights, November 25 and 26, at 8:00 pm.

Tickets for the initial performance (Monday the 25th) sold out quickly, although there is a waiting list available. Otherwise, tickets for the Tuesday show are available immediately. Call the Blank Theatre Company in Los Angeles at 323-661-9827 and ask for tickets to the Living Room Series reading of ALBERT HALL on Tuesday, November 26. There is a suggested donation of $10.

For more information, visit
<http://www.theblank.com>